

Charles University Gained Full Access to JSTOR and Taylor & Francis

Collections of two eminent information sources were made available to the students and lecturers of Charles University – digital library JSTOR and e-books published by an international academic publishing house Taylor & Francis. Access to these sources are temporary:

JSTOR – unlimited access to all collections of electronic periodicals and e-books. Full texts are downloadable. Remote access until 30 June 2020 via Charles University eResources Portal.

Taylor & Francis – access to an e-book collection. All content can be viewed online and cannot be downloaded. Remote access until 1 June 2020 via Charles University eResources Portal.

A variety of other exceptionally information sources made available can be found in the continually updated list of the Library of CUFA (see below).

More information

- eResource Portal
- Continually extended list of handy links during the closure of libraries