

MA and PhD Students Apply for University Consortium Training Modules by 31 January

The training modules focus on the relations between Russia, Europe, and the USA from historical, sociological, political, intercultural, and anthropological perspectives. CU FA students can apply only for the module taking place in Sofia, Bulgaria on 7–11 March 2024.

The aim of the workshops is to bring together ca

nd
id
at es
fr om
di
ff
er
en t
di sc
ip
li ne
s fo r
in
-
de pt
h
di
sc
us
si
on
on
th e
to pi
cs
un
de

r
th
e
gu
id
an ce
of wo
rl
dle ad
in g
ex
pe rt
s.
Pa
rt
ic
ip
an ts
of
th
es
e
mo du le
s
ha ve
th
e

op
po rt
un it y
to
at te nd
fu
tu
re
me et in
gs
un
de
r
th e Un
iv er
si
ty
Co
ns
or ti um
um
br el la
an

d
ga
in ac
ce
ss
to
pu
bl
ic
at
io
n pl
at
fo rm
s
or sp ec
ia
l gr
an t
ca ll
s,
sc
ie nt if ic
an d
pr

of
es
si
on
al
co
nt
ac
ts
,
et c.

Documents to be submitted in English:

- brief professional CV, including a list of professional activities,
- motivation letter of up to 300 words (why you want to join the University Consortium workshop and which topics within their focus you are interested in).

Send both documents to marie.hankova@ff.cuni.cz. Scan each document separately.

In case of receiving a large number of applications, applicants may be invited to a short personal or online interview with members of the Management of CU FA between 5 and 9 February 2024. The final selection is made via online interviews on Zoom platform with the representatives of the University Consortium.

The organizers cover all costs for the participants.

The official leaflet is available here.

The University Consortium gathers several prestigious universities, including Oxford University, Sciences Po, and Columbia University. You may find out more about the University Consortium here.