

International Conference

Mongolian Language and Culture in Contact

October 27-28, 2022, Prague, nám. J. Palacha 1/2, room 104 (Th.), 300 (Fri).

In the study of languages and cultures, contact has been steadily gaining recognition as one of the key forming factors. Nomadic societies, because of their mobility, have been constantly exposed to different influences through contact, as is no less true for Mongolians in the modern globalized world. This conference brings together researchers focusing on linguistic and cultural contacts and their impacts, both within the Mongolian society and between the Mongols and other cultures.

Keynote speeches:

Juha Janhunen (University of Helsinki):

Mongolic and Tungusic: Non-trivial correspondences

Urangua Jamsran (National University of Mongolia):

Ethnically complex groups in Mongolia: The case of the origin and composition of the Dariganga

(In Mongolian)

Program:

<https://mongoliaincontactconference.ff.cuni.cz/>