

Charles University

Rector's Directive No. 36/2024

Title: Support for the Internationalisation of Charles University

Lead Office: International Relations Office RUK

Date of Effect: 30 October 2024

Support for the Internationalisation of Charles University

Article 1 Fundamental Provision

The programme entitled Support for the Internationalisation of Charles University (“POINT programme” and “CU”) is one of the instruments of financial support for activities aimed at increasing the level of internationalisation of CU with respect to the goals set out in the relevant strategic documents of CU and individual faculties and other units.

Article 2 Aims and Principles of the Support

1. The activities supported under this directive are the following types of international mobility of students:
 - a) Short-term stays;
 - b) Organisation of international summer schools and other activities not included in the curriculum of the specific study programme (“extracurricular events”) organised by CU faculties or other units¹.
2. The main aim of the support for the organisation of international summer schools and other extracurricular events organised by CU faculties or other units is to institute international summer schools organised for international participants and held in foreign languages, primarily in the English language, as a tool for developing the internationalisation of CU — in particular by attracting international students to pre-graduate programmes of study in the English language.
3. The POINT programme operates on the principle of “seed money”, i.e., on one-off or recurring support necessary to implement the event for no more than the first three years, and presumes that at least three additional years of the event will be held that will be self-funded and will not receive any financial support from the CU Rectorate (“the Rectorate”). The aim is for the faculty or other unit to use the period of support to obtain external funding or to introduce fees for participants to make the given summer school financially sustainable. Summer schools and other extracurricular events falling within the long-term strategic priorities of CU may in cases worthy of special consideration obtain support on a recurring or long-term basis.

Article 3 Types of Activities Supported

The activities supported under this directive are divided into two groups:

- a) International mobility of students in the form of short-term stays (no more than three weeks):
 - i. Support for participation in or stays of CU students at summer schools (with the exception of language courses);

¹ In accordance with the Framework for State Aid for Research and Development and Innovation (2014/C 198/01).

- ii. Short-term unpaid professional internships for students (with the exception of clinical and medical research scholarships financed from programmes or sources other than the POINT programme in order to avoid double financing);
- iii. International competitions and championships;
- iv. Student conferences (only with active participation); or
- v. Representing CU at international meetings related to the internationalisation of CU activities.

b) Organisation of international summer schools and other extracurricular events organised by CU faculties or other units².
